He had been a laborer in the vineyard of Republicarism, it was declared, for forty years; his name was a household with Republicans not only in the State of New York, but in all the States; he had been a faithful and loyal organization Republican and had performed his duties as a United Status Senator at Washington in such fashion that Republican sentiment demanded his reelection. With these views Mr. Black has at times differed to a certain extent, but at no time has he made any public utterance derogatory to Mr. Depew.

On the other hand, Mr. Depew has kept on friendly terms with every leading Repub-lican politician in the State and has not been inimical to any of Mr. Black's personal adherents. It has been manifest from the start, therefore, that Black had-the short end of the stick, and that Depew. unless he was opposed by that part of the organization in the State controlled by dell and Black's friends, would surely be reelected without a dissenting vote at Albany just as he was elected six years ago come next month. So amicable has been Depew's attitude all through his Republican life that whereas Mr. Platt when he came up for reelection in 1897 was opposed by seven Republicans in the Legislature, Depew didn't have a vote against him. That was the record that Mr. Black and Mr. Black's friends were called upon to confront, and all of these matters were gone over yesterday at the Hotel Manhattan when Mr. Black was urged to announce his candidacy and after thoughtful, if not prayerful, consideration, declined to do so.

Meantime, down at the Republican Club, within three blocks of the Hotel Manhattan, Mr. Odell was going over the situation with Republicans who surrounded him. Littauer, Mr. Foote and Mr. Brackett urged Mr. Odell that it was time for him to declare himself on the United States Senatorship. Speaker Nixon spoke up and opposed it. Speaker Nixon is very close to Governor-elect Higgins, and to a certain extent has represented Mr. Higgins in the conferences which have been held by the Odell-Black wing of the party at the Republican Club. All the afternoon and until late in the evening Mr. Littauer, Mr. Foote and Mr. Brackett urged Mr. Odell to declare himself for Black, and Governor-Chairman Odell declined to do so, and gave great heed to the suggestions of Speaker Nixon. While Mr. Odell was discussing the matter with his Republican friends in the club a very nent Republican, in the confidence of Mr. Higgins, told the following story:

Gov. Odell and Governor-elect Higgins had a long talk in Albany on Friday last. Mr. Higgins told Gov. Odell that he personally thanked him for the manner in which he had conducted the organization of the party in the State, and that he under deep obligations to him. Mr Higgins, however, told Gov. Odell that he hoped there would be no trouble over the United States Senatorship and that the, matter would be settld before he was inaugurated Governor on Jan. 1. Mr. Higgins added that if it were not settled at the time he should feel obliged to recognize the sentiment of the Republican party in the State and declare in favor of Mr. De-

With the overwhelming Republican sentiment of the State for Depew, and only a handful of Republican leaders for Black, and with Speaker Nixon, Mr. Higgins's personal representative, urging Governor-Chairman Odell not to declare for Black, Mr. Odell declined to commit himself to Black. Of course, there were many heartburnings; many sharp and distasteful utterances were heard last night: and Senator Brackett went back to Saratoga in a huff.

Senator Nathaniel A. Elsberg, who is Mr Depew's State Senator, it was announced yesterday, told his friends that he believed it would be for the best interests of the party to reelect Senator Depew; and Regent Edward Lauterbach, who, with Alexander T. Mason and Senator E'sberg, is the blican Cresar of the Senate district... aid last night at the Republican Club after alking with Mr. Odell: "I do not know that Mr. Elsberg has come out for Mr. Depew. All that I can say is that Mr. Depew has never opposed Mr. Elsberg. and the Republicans of Mr. Elsberg's Senate district feel very friendly to Senator De-

The conferences at the Republican Club and at the Hotel Manhattan are to be resumed to-day. Mr. Black's friends, it was aid late last night, are to continue to urge him to come out and declare himself a can-didate against Senator Depew. Mr. Foote and Mr. Littauer are to continue to urge Governor-Chairman Odell to declare for by But if there is anything in the story of Mr. Higgins's sayings to Mr. Odell in Albany on Friday last Mr. Odell, politicians think, will not commit himself to Mr. Black and neither will Mr. Black announce his or One of Governor-Chairman iell's friends said: "I do not believe that Mr. Odell will make any direct statement in the matter of his predilection. I do not believe it necessar y for him to do so. In view of the situation that has come up to-day, it will be only necessary for him to continue his present attitude of neutrality between Depew and ack and leave the matter entirely in the hands of the Legislature. In that event the forces of Mr. Black will be disintegrated, and Senator Depew's reelection will be over-whelmingly assured."

A report was circulated at the Republican Club at midnight that Governor-Chairman Odell told Mr. Littauer, Mr. Foote, Mr. Brackett and others of Black's friends that in view of the heavy Republican sentiment in the State for Depew he could not ment in the State for Depew he could not see how he could come to the support of Black.

"I made no such statement," replied Governor-Chairman Odell when it was brought to his attention. "I merely declined to commit myself."

A story somewhat similar in character to the effect that Mr. Odell urged Mr. Black's friends to take him out of the race for United States Senator was also denied by Mr. Odell.

The betting last night (even Republicans are wicked enough at times to bet) was 100 to 10 on Depew.

CARNEGIE ON CHADWICK CASE. Tells a Pittsburg Friend That the Woman Should Go to Jall.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 28.-Andrew Carnegie thinks that Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick will serve a long term in the penitentiary. He expressed his opinion to Director E. M. Bigelow of the Department of Public Works, who discussed the Chadwick case with him last week.

"Mr. Carnegie believes the woman is in a tight box and that she will have to undergo imprisonment in the penitentiary," said Director Bigelow to-day. "We discussed the case at length. There is nothing in any of those stories connecting Mr. Carnegie's name with the woman. He is in no way concerned and is interested solely because his name was used by the person in the great financial scheme.

ADMIRAL WALKER WILL FIGHT.

OPPOSES REDUCTION OF CANAL COMMISSION TO THREE.

Members of the Commission Think Chief Engineer Wallace's Views as Expressed to the Hepburn Committee Little Less Than Rank Insubordination.

Washington, Dec. 28.—Reduction of the Isthmian Canal Commission from seven to three members, as proposed in the bill being drafted by members of the Senate Committee on Interoceanic Canals, or abolition of the commission, as proposed in the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, will not be accomplished without a vigorous fight.

Admiral Walker, chairman of the commission, is of the opinion that it is the function of the commission to make plans and the business of Chief Engineer Wallace to execute them. That is precisely where the disagreement between Representative Hepburn, chairman of the Commerce Committee, and the members of the com begins, and it extends down through all the operations of the commission and the chief engineer, with a very distinct line of cleavage.

The members of the commission believe that Chief Engineer Wallace is trying to assume all the powers and authority now assume all the powers and authority now vested in the commission. They hold that the views he expressed in the hearing held by the members of Representative Hepburn's committee while they were returning from the Isthmus were little less than rank insubordination; that he presumed to criticise the act of his superior, President Roosevelt, for extending the provisions of the classified service law to all persons who are to be employed in the construction of the canal above the grade of common laborer.

Throughout his testimony, he dwelt upon the necessity of giving the chief engineer authority equal to his responsibility and said he believed the people of the United States expected the actual work of digging the canal to be done according to business the canal to be done according to business principles. They interpret the expression of that opinion as an indirect way of saying that the work cannot be done accord-ing to business principles under the plans already made by the commission.

already made by the commission.

The commissioners appear to have had information long before the chief engineer appeared before the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee that an effort would be made to reduce the number of commissioners, if not to have the body abolished altogether. When Senator Cockrell was told that he could have membership either on the Istbmian Canal or the Interstate Commerce Commission, he learned that the members of the Senate Committee on Canals were thinking seriously of reporting Canals were thinking seriously of reporting a bill reducing the membership of the Canal Commission to three.

The story goes that the Senator pondered long on the operation of the law of probabilities and came to the conclusion that had batter take a place on a commission that he had better take a place on a commission that he had better take a place on a commission that was in no danger of being reduced, even if by so doing he showed a preference for a $7.500 place instead of one that has a salary of $12,000 attached.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The attorneys of Dr. Franz Papp of Hungary, who was deported yesterday on a warrant au-thorized by Secretary Metcalf of the Department of Commerce, will probably get no relief if they take an appeal to President Roosevelt, as they threaten to do. According to a statement made at the Department. Papp was ordered deported on the ground that prior to landing in this country he was convicted of a crime in-volving moral turpitude, the evidence showing that he was an embezzler and a fugitive from justice. "when Dr. Severance came from the J. Hood Wright hospital the woman was dead. The body was taken in the ambulance to the station house."

That was all Arnold could tell of the finding of the body. He went on to say that a friend of his, Edwin F. Phillips, who is a broker, had seen a party of two men and two women in "The Widow's" the night before, but he didn't know any of the party. According to Arnold, he was in the cafe on Sunday night and saw the same party. They sat at a table adjoining the one he was at, he said. They had all been drinking. Suddenly one of the men, after a dispute, leaned across the table and slapped one of the girls in the face. She shrank from the blow, and the other man said:
"Say, 'Gene, you ought not do that."

"He didn't hit me, spoke up the girl who had been struck. "No one but my husband could do that."

She wore a gray plaid flannel underskirt and black flannel undervest. The underwear is woollen, and the stockings are long black merino. The black laced shoes are good ones, but appear to have been much worn. The overshoes that covered these were recently purchased. The palms of the woman's hands are slightly callous and the fingers are roughed, especially the index finger on the right slightly callous and the ingers are roughed, especially the index finger on the right hand. A great many persons called at the Morgue yesterday and last night to look at the hody. The majority were merely curious. Patrick Hanlon, of 680 Third avenue, was one who looked at the body. He said he thought that the dead girlwas Mary Sullivan, who until recently was employed in the linen room of the Hotel Netherland. Fifty-ninth street and Fifth avenue. As announced Second Recital Thursday, Dec. 29, 3 P. M. (No cards of admission required)

HIS REPETITION of the Grieg Recital given three weeks ago is made necessary by the fact that Aeolian Hall could not accommodate all of the people who desired to hear this music and several hundred were turned away. This opportunity is therefore presented for the benefit of those who were disappointed on the previous occasion. No cards of admission

This is called a Grieg Recital not only because the program is entirely made up of Grieg compositions, but because the music will be rendered according to authorized interpretations made by Dr. Grieg himself for the Metrostyle Pianola.

A short time ago the manufacturers of the Pianola received 'rom this distinguished composer-sometimes called the Chopin of the North-a set of Pianola 10'ls, each one of which bears throughout its length the Metrostyle or interpretation line traced by Grieg himself. The Pianola performer, by following this irregular, undulating red line, secures all the shadings of tempo, of accent, etc., necessary to bring out the full beauty and subtleties of expression which the composer intended when writing

In thus cooperating with the manufacturers of the Fiaro'a, Dr. Grieg has placed within the hands of every owner of the instrument the means of playing these beloved compositions according to the artistic dictates of the master music mind that created them. In no way, except by the Metrostyle Pianola, could such an important achievement to the cause of musical art be brought within the realm of possibility.

Senator P. H. McCarren is reported to have expressed a sincere desire to see the factional fight in the Seventeenth Assembly district in Kings county ended, but having been assured most emphatically by both Magistrate Naumer and Deputy County Clerk Joseph P. Donnelly, the rival leaders, that neither would give way, he announced yesterday, through Secretary McCooey of the executive committee of the Kings County Democracy, that an effort for compromise would be made.

It is said that the plan is to allow each of the belligerents to hold power—Donnelly, who was the recognized leader and executive committeeman, to retain his leadership in the district, and Magistrate Naumer's man, Henry Cochiane, the newly elected executive committeeman, can retain his new post with its empty bonors.

Mr. Donnelly was very emphatic in his rejection of the proposition. He declared that Magistrate Naumer and his friends had misstated the facts when they said that they had 700 members on the rolls.

"The Democrats of this district won't stand for any division of the leadership," he declared. "I am either the executive member or I am nothing. I am perfectly willing to go before the people of the district again."

NO BAIL FOR MISS PATTERSON. And No Prospect of an Immediate Retrial of the Case.

When Nan Patterson's father left the Tombs last night he said that Nan was a mental and physical wreck. Dr. McGuire. the Tombs physician, and the Tombs keep-ers said that Nan was about as cheerful as ever. Abe-Levy, her counsel, said that there was nothing the matter with her. She is not to have an immediate retrial. Abe Levy called on Assistant District Abe Levy called on Assistant District Attorney Rand yesterday and said that for the present his physical condition was such that he was not in a hurry for a trial. Mr. Rand said that he was in no hurry either. Nan receives from fifty to seventy letters every day. They come from persons who sympathize with her and say they want to help. The telegram from four men of West Virginia saying that they would give $50,000 bail for her was received by Mr. Levy last Thursday. He said yesterday that he was investigating it. John D. Millin, Young's racing partner, will start for California to-day. He expects to be away for a couple of months, but whenever the District Attorney wants him he will be on hand.
